Pasteurization Within Limits To Be Required Outside Firms Affected As Board Protects Peninsula Firms

Setting up a barrier in San Mateo county to milk from San Francisco, Santa Clara or Alameda counties until it has been pasteurized within the county limits, the board of supervisors Monday adopted two amendments to the existing county milk ordinance as requested by peninsula dairy interests.

All San Mateo county dairy interests represented before the board, including two of the largest, Millbrae and Golden State, favored the proposed milk law, while Borden's spokesman asked time to confer with his San Francisco office before giving his approval.

One of the purposes of the new law is to offset the costly milk war, one of which occurred recently as the result of dumping of San Francisco's surplus dairy products in San Mateo county.

Duncan McLeod, noted attorney, who appeared for the Mills Estate, urged the board to act immediately, as he said the ordinance was similar to those existing in Santa Clara or San Francisco counties. McLeod said the supreme court had upheld the San Francisco ordinance in a test case many years ago.

Edmund Minehan, San Mateo dairy owner, also spoke against delaying the adoption.

W. C. Schaefer, speaking for Borden's, asked time to familiarize himself with the ordinance.

On being informed by McLeod, however, that the ordinance was no different than in effect in San Francisco and Santa Clara counties, the board determined to act at once.

The ordinance was introduced by Supervisor Manuel Francis, Half Moon Bay, and seconded by Supervisor Rosalie Brown, San Mateo, and will become effective January 7.

It provides that no pasteurized milk may be distributed within San Mateo county until it has first been pasteurized in a county-located plant.

Certified milk, under the ordinance, must be produced in a plant within the county or close enough so that the equipment may be inspected frequently by the county health director.

Dr. Harper Peddicord, health director, made one suggested change in the ordinance before it was adopted. The ordinance was drafted by District Attorney Edmund Scott.

Boys Rescue Man From Quicksands

BURLINGAME, Nov. 12.—Two small boys rescued a man from death in the quicksand marshes today and thought so little of their feat that they forgot to find out the man's name.

The boys, Jack Ingold and Bob Ferguson, both of Burlingame, were riding the Bayshore highway in a field when they heard a man calling for aid. Securing the aid of a passerby, they procured boards from which to work and soon had the man extricated.

After they had been thanked profusely, they got back on their bicycles and rode home.

Peninsula Association Asks Equal Rights For Promotion

Opposition of the Associated Firemen of San Mateo County to any plan of annexation to San Francisco which fails to consider the rights of peninsula firemen was voiced today by the association.

Meanwhile, the fight to reopen negotiations with San Francisco county for annexation of the peninsula is slated to get underway at the Hotel Benj. Franklin in San Mateo on Friday night.

The meeting Friday will be in charge of Attorney Charles N. Kirkbride, prominent San Mateo attorney, one of the leaders in the movement for annexation.

Fred H. Drake, San Carlos, will assist Colonel Kirkbride in the new efforts. An organization to be known as the "Supporters of Annexation" will be formed.

The firemen's stand was taken at a recent meeting in Brisbane, when a resolution of protest was drafted. Reports from the association say that no consideration has been given to the volunteer firemen who now are giving service to the county.

The association contends that, if it now is able to serve the peninsula with excellent fire service as volunteers, or as part-time paid firemen, proper consideration should be given to these men in the event of annexation.

It is the opinion of the firemen that annexation schemes should blanket in all volunteer departments together with existing personnel and memberships of at least one year's standing.

Peninsula members demand priority over waiting lists of the San Francisco Fire Department in the event of increases in paid personnel.

SUES FOR DIVORCE

Otis O. Hines today filed suit in superior court here for divorce from Amy D. Hines. The couple was married in Chicago April 30, 1926, and separated November 11, 1928. According to the complaint, Hines has no knowledge of the whereabouts of his wife.

Miss Sarah Fry, Menlo Park resident and goat farm operator who admits that she learned how to tote a gun down in Texas, told the Menlo Park City Council Tuesday that if anybody comes traipsing around her house at night henceforth she will shoot. She made it clear that she wouldn't do any silly firing up in the air, either.

Her remarks were made in comment on depredations committed in Menlo Park on Halloween. What she had to say made a deep impression upon a meeting which had already been marked by a lengthy and sometimes torrid debate on continuance of a local dance hall, by cancellation of the city's contract with San Mateo county for health service and by the appointment of Dr. R. J. Gerlough as city health officer.

Miss Fry spoke with vigor. Her words were delivered with an incisive but calm deliberation. To put it mildly, she achieved emphasis. When she had finished everyone knew that Miss Fry is a woman who loves peace and won't let a corpse or two stand between her and the contemplative life.

"I once scattered a bunch of millionaires all over the Santa Cruz mountains," she said, directing a stern gaze upon the councilmen, all of whom, fortunately, are men of modest means. "I tried to tap my water rights. I'm a lone woman, but I can shoot. I learned how down in Texas."

She paused a moment, and then added, "I don't bluff." Everyone was inclined to take her at her word.

The speaker then turned with deliberation to face members of the audience, many of whom are loving parents with chicks of their own. "I never killed a bird in my life," she said. "And I don't want to kill any of my neighbors' children."

A flutter of reassurance went through the audience. "But," Miss Fry went on after a significant pause, "if they come throwing things at my place next Halloween I'll shoot. If any high school boys come around after dark they will have to ring my doorbell."

Miss Fry made it clear that she appreciates good fun. "Originally Halloween was the night of All Saints, if I am not mistaken," she said. She placed the blame for senseless property destruction and vandalism upon parents rather than upon children. "I don't think we should increase the police force," she said in answer to that suggestion from a member of the council. "What we need is education on the matter in the churches, schools and homes."

"Miss Fry said that eggs and tomatoes were thrown against her home and others in Menlo Park on Halloween night. Some windows were broken. One home must be repainted."

Miss Mera Kugeler joined Miss Fry in deploring the act of vandalism. She said that their activities are "bordering on gangsterism. The police know who they are."

It was suggested that penalties of 10 days in jail or $20 in fines be levied on parents of offenders.

Dance Hall Protested

Criticism of rowdiness following the Thursday night dance conducted at the Blue Moon Dance Hall resulted in a decision to conduct a two-week trial period, when management will attend all dances and see that patrons leave promptly after the close of the entertainment. No criticism was made of conditions inside the hall, which were described as entirely orderly.

Drinking outside, malapropos missiles being thrown, and bottles against houses and into yards was charged.

Phil Blanchard, proprietor, assured neighbors and councilmen that he has always tried and always will to see that all goes well. Dr. Gerlough was appointed to serve as city health officer at $35 a month, upon motion of Councilman E. H. Hart. The best public health program in the city's history is expected.

The resignation of J. J. Harcom as city building inspector was accepted and John B. Glunz was appointed in his place. Harcom is seriously ill.

HELEN GRANT HOUSING TALK PRIZE WINNER

Charles Sammon First In High School Division

Two speaking contests held on Tuesday in the McNairy school auditorium in connection with the national housing campaign went to Helen Grant, grammar school division, and Charles Sammon, high school division.

Erwin Richter took second and Athlone Pipkin third in the grammar school contest, Charles Fuller second and Dorothy Shephard third in the high school contest. Prizes were given from the fund donated to the housing committee from the city.

Judges for the contest were B. E. Myers, L. Demattels and Mrs. J. E. Baughn. Henry Witt, chairman of the housing committee, presided, and James Hedge was chairman for the contests. Mayor Charles G. Lambert greeted the crowd of about 100 people.

Projection pictures depicting activities undertaken under the provisions of the national housing act were shown after the contests were concluded. A recorded talk was presented in connection with the pictures, included in which were a few words from President Roosevelt. The audience forgot the solemnity of the occasion in the cheering audibly at the emphatic "ding" of a bell that told the operator when to change pictures.

Prize-winning essays submitted by pupils in the housing contests will be found on page 3 of today's issue of The Tribune.

Open Verdict Given By Coroner's Jury

BURLINGAME, Nov. 14.—A coroner's jury investigating the deaths of Raymond Macadini, 25, of Belmont, and Mrs. Yvonne Mignault, 46, of San Francisco, who were killed in an automobile accident here a week ago yesterday, returned an open verdict today.

The jury was empaneled yesterday that a jury had returned a verdict of "accidental death" in the case.

Both of these huge sums will be repayable in revenues from the projects upon which they have been expended. At the same time, the general obligations of the governmental agencies affected, McCarthy said.

After the bonds are retired from earnings, McCarthy said that excess profits of the utilities would be turned into the general fund of the municipality for tax reduction purposes.

Burke Scores Limitation

Asking, "What does a state of each municipality?" Burke declared that no agency was in a better position to delineate the budget requirements of a city than the city council, and declared the "hard and fast" rule imposed by the Riley-Stewart act should be lifted.

The act, adopted by the last legislature, provided that no increase beyond 5 per cent of last year's expenditures would be permitted without approval of the state board of equalization.

Burke said that no agency was closer to the public than the council and declared that "only a small wooden rail" separates the audience from the council members in most city halls. If this were not ample assurance that the council members would not run "hog wild" with expenditures Burke said the people could quickly resort to recall.

Thompson Outlines Request

Thompson, chairman of the gas tax committee of the league, reviewed the efforts of cities to share in the state gasoline tax funds. Two years ago, he said, cities secured a one-fourth-cent portion of the tax, which raised $3,000,000 for use on city streets.

This year the league will seek at least a one-half-cent portion, or $6,000,000, and will ask the state to take care of highways within cities to the extent of about another one-fourth-cent, making the actual demands of the cities three-fourths of a cent. Counties now secure one cent of the three-cent state tax.

Thompson said one proposal had been outlined by which an equal division of one cent for each of the three governmental agencies, state, county and city, would have been provided, but the cities have taken a "reasonable" attitude and request only the one-half-cent portion.

The spokesman said that the legislature will be given absolute assurance that funds will be used for streets and highways and not diverted to other municipal channels.

Many Notable Guests

Albert I. Stewart, Pasadena, president of the California league, who succeeded Mayor Earl Thomas as Palo Alto State Senator, Sanborn, Young, San Jose, and Walter McGovern, San Francisco; Assemblymen Dewey Anderson, Palo Alto; Frederick Peterson, Burlingame; James Brennan, San Francisco, and Cliff Cottrell, San Jose, and Supervisor Walter High, Burlingame, were the guests and speakers at the dinner.

Mayors who headed delegations from their cities included J. T. Cooper, Menlo Park; Asa Hull, San Carlos; Chris Jordan, Belmont; Thomas, Palo Alto; Allan Hunt, Burlingame; James Lawrence, Bayshore; Walter Scholer, Mountain View, and H. H. Smith, Daly City. Councilmen McCarthy, Louis Christensen, George McNulty and Robert Jones, and City Manager E. A. Rolison, were present from Redwood City.

Plans for the building of a church at North Fair Oaks were revealed to the board of supervisors Monday when the board granted a permit for the structure.

The church, to be built by Thomas Nelson, will be situated on Sixth avenue.

SET AS GOAL OF CITIES REPEAL OF ACT LIMITING BUDGET INCREASES TO 5%

—Lifting of the 5 per cent yearly budget increase limitation imposed on municipalities by the Riley-Stewart act.

—Securing of a half-cent portion of the state gasoline tax revenues instead of only a quarter-cent.

—Drafting of legislation permitting municipalities to issue revenue bonds for the acquisition of self-sustaining utilities.

These three proposals came before the peninsula division of the League of California Municipalities at a dinner meeting in the Hotel Benj. Franklin, San Mateo, Wednesday, at which Henry Collins of Palo Alto, president of the San Francisco to Morgan Hill section, presided.

The first objective was outlined by Louis H. Burke, youthful legislative counselor of the California league; the second by Hollis Thompson, city manager of Berkeley, and the third by Paul A. McCarthy, Redwood City councilman and immediate past president of the peninsula league.

Not General Obligation

McCarthy's proposal was referred to the unanimous motion of the peninsula division to the league's board of directors for consideration and possible adoption as part of the legislative program.

Revenue bonds as proposed by McCarthy would become liens against the earnings of the public utilities acquired and in no respect would become general obligations of the municipality, McCarthy said.

The act would permit cities and towns interested in securing utilities such as electric or gas distribution to do so without the necessity of submitting a bond issue to the voters with the incident difficulty of securing a favorable two-thirds vote.

This plan of finance has been adopted in California in two notable instances, McCarthy pointed out. One was in the borrowing by Los Angeles of $22,800,000 from the RFC for the construction of a power transmission line from Boulder Canyon dam to Los Angeles, while the other was in the securing of $65,000,000 from the RFC by San Francisco in the construction of the Oakland bay bridge.

Both of these huge sums will be repayable in revenues from the projects upon which they have been expended. At the same time, the general obligations of the governmental agencies affected, McCarthy said.

After the bonds are retired from earnings, McCarthy said that excess profits of the utilities would be turned into the general fund of the municipality for tax reduction purposes.

Woman's Body Washed Ashore On Coastside

Mrs. Grace D. Skeels' Remains Recovered From Ocean

Clearing up a mystery which developed when Mrs. Grace Dickson Skeels of Los Altos and Ross, Marin county, was found missing from the coastwise steamship Yale as it docked in Los Angeles a few days ago, the body of Mrs. Skeels was discovered Sunday on the beach a half mile from Half Moon Bay.

Positive identification of the body was made by Mrs. Skeels' brother-in-law, William Cranston, Palo Alto realtor.

Mrs. Skeels was believed by San Mateo county authorities to have leaped overboard. She had been despondent since the death of her husband, a Sacramento business man, a short time ago, it was reported.

The body was discovered by Joe Santo and Phillip Muller, both of Oakland.

They notified Deputy Coroner Manuel Dutra of Half Moon Bay, who telephoned the sheriff's office here. Deputy Sheriff Belton Rhodes assisted Dutra in an investigation.

That Mrs. Skeels' death was due to drowning was determined by an autopsy performed last night, according to Dutra.

Cranston visited the Half Moon Bay morgue and made the identification.

Safeway Stores In Suggestions On Walnut Uses

Now that walnuts are more popular than ever before, both because of quality and price, many housewives are puzzled as to the best ways to prepare and use them in cooking.

Mrs. Julia Lee Wright, director of the Homemakers' Bureau of Safeway Stores, Inc., offers several suggestions to these problems in connection with the company's annual grower-consumer walnut campaign.

1. When you use walnuts in baking, dip the kernels in flour. This will prevent their falling to the bottom of the baking dish.

2. To get full walnut halves for decorating cakes, cookies, salads, etc., crack the walnut by standing it on the flat end and striking it lightly with a hammer.

3. Don't grind walnuts unless the recipe directs it. Chop them.

4. One pound of Diamond walnuts in the shell will produce a little over one-half pound, or two cups.

Friday Frolics Offering Towner, Choral Director

Like linemen on a football team, choral directors very rarely get their name in print. But we'd like to mention the name of Earl Towner, director of the Nonesuch Singers, who are heard on the Friday Frolics over the Columbia-Don Lee network every Friday evening at 7:30.

Under his constant drilling this group has become one of the most popular ensembles in the West. You can hear them tonight, 12 voices in harmonic unity, singing an unusual arrangement of "Blue Moon" and that melodic German number "Liebling."

Burglar Suffers Cut Hand Here Securing $4.80

Effecting entrance through a window 14 inches square, burglars sometime Monday night entered a service station at Woodside road near Orchard street belonging to Joe Delucchi and took $4.80 from the cash register, according to a report given local police this morning.

Delucchi discovered the theft when he opened the station this morning. The burglar, who was believed to have been a small man or boy, had broken the glass in the window, evidently cutting himself doing so, as blood stains were found on the broken glass.

TESTIMONIALS Speak for Themselves

For thousands of years the health of millions of people has been restored through the life giving Chinese herbs. If you hesitate to try our herbs, read the letters written to us by grateful people who once more are healthy and happy. We re-produce here two recent letters received at our offices—read them over.

HEART TROUBLE

TO WHOM IT MAY CONCERN:

I wish to offer this as a testimonial to the benefit which I have had from taking the Chan & Kong herbs.

It is now five weeks since I first came to your office to inquire about your method of treating disease, having been told of some remarkable cures you have made.

I have been troubled for a long time with severe palpitation of the heart and had been to several healers without getting more than temporary relief. I became short of breath on making the slightest effort and could not walk without it causing my heart to jump.

The heart trouble also gave me an almost continuous nervous headache.

After only one week of your treatment I was very considerably improved; in two weeks a great deal better and now am entirely cured. Already, in gratitude, I have sent to you several patients.

Yours truly, (Signed) LORENZO BAVOJO,
585 Texas St., San Francisco, Calif.

NERVOUS BREAKDOWN

Chan and Kong
Redwood City, Calif.
Gentlemen:

October 18, 1934

Several months ago I suffered a complete nervous breakdown and was forced to stop working entirely. I could not hold myself together to stay on the job even though I greatly needed the money.

I became so weak and run down and constantly fatigued that life hardly seemed worth living. I suffered no end of torture from sleeplessness and my generally upset nervous and physical condition.

Some time ago I was told to visit the Chinese herb firm of Chan and Kong as they might be able to help me. I did so and now wish to express my heartfelt thanks to them. I took the mild Chinese herbs daily for a few weeks and noticed a remarkable improvement.

I am now well enough to go back to work and am again earning a living. Not only that but I feel good and the whole world looks bright to me now, thanks to you.

If there is any one ailing in any way I recommend that they visit the Chan and Kong Herbs.

(Signed) ED. H. KUPPERA,

Backlund's skull was fractured and his chest crushed in the crash. The other victim, William Sullivan, 642 Ramona street, Palo Alto, died Sunday night.

Water District Of Belmont Asks New Bond Bids
BELMONT, Nov. 14.—Believing that the status of the country is on an upward trend, the Belmont County Water District took action last evening to readvertise for bids for the purchase of its $45,000 water bond issue. The water consumers of Belmont voted the bonds some eighteen months ago.
Bids are to be received at the next meeting of the district on December 11 at 8 p. m. at the Belmont school. Engineer W. W. Hendricks, suggested using SERA labor in order to keep within the $45,000 mark.
According to the report of W. E. Curtis, manager, the district has operated during October with a gross profit of $436.83 from Belmont consumers and $196.11 from Belle Monti. Eleven new services have been turned on during the month. He also explained that the district has taken in more than $500 more from sales in October than in October, 1933.
The report of auditor, Robert L. Simpson, setting forth a net operating profit for October in the amount of $339.11 was ordered filed. The auditor explained that the collections are reaching the manager better than heretofore.
In reference to a check on cross-connections, advised recently by federal authorities for the safeguard of health, Manager Curtis reported that the California sanitarium, the Alexander sanitarium, Nerve Rest, Twin Acres, St. Joseph's Academy and A. Mock, have installed the necessary cross-connections. The Notre Dame College reported that there is no possible way for their water to get into the water mains of the system.
On motion of Commissioner Lussier, W. W. Hendricks, engineer for the district, was authorized to negotiate with the highway commission in an attempt to get the commission to compensate the district for cost of moving the water mains. The additional cost of four-inch pipe instead of three-inch could be met by the district, it was explained. The moving of the mains was necessitated by the widening of El Camino Real.

OVERCOMES BAD BREATH

New Bay Meadows Race Course Scene Today of Freak Mishap
Crashing headon in the fog at the new Bay Meadows racing track near San Mateo, two valuable horses were killed on Tuesday and the jockey riding one of them received critical injuries.
John McLaren, the jockey, had taken Mint Memories, owned by Mrs. A. Manale, out for a workout. He was rounding a turn in the track when out of the fog directly in front of him loomed Sir Richard, another race horse which had broken away from its trainer, and was running the other way on the course. McLaren was unable to stop his horse or guide it out of the path of the charging runaway, and the horses crashed, both incurring broken necks.
McLaren was thrown to the ground by the impact, under the feet of the dying horses. In their death convulsions they trampled and kicked him with their hoofs, fracturing his skull, breaking his jaw and inflicting other painful injuries on the jockey.
He was rushed to Mills Memorial Hospital, where it was said his condition was serious.
Mint Memories was valued by his owner at $2000, while Mrs. A. Horton, owner of Sir Richard, valued her horse at $2500.

Converse Will Asked
A petition for probate of the will of the late Mabel P. Converse, 76, who died in Burlingame October 27, was filed today in superior court here by her son, Percy A. Converse. The estate is estimated at $4,000.

Rolison Receives Honorary Post
The distinction of being selected California's member of the International City Managers Association's committee on professional conduct came today to E. A. Rolison, city manager of Redwood City.
The committee is composed of 28 city managers in the United States and Canada. Its function is to call to the attention of the association any infraction of the code of ethics or constitution by any member of the association and to consider complaints of a similar nature emanating from other members.
In view of the fact that there are 34 city managers in California, the appointment is considered quite an honor for Rolison, who is the oldest city manager in point of service in the state.

This is the recipe for the surprise pie which was demonstrated at the Tribune cooking school by Miss Hester Heath.

"Chocolate Sundae" pie

CRISCO digests quickly
REG. U. S. PAT. OFF.

CRISCO PASTRY (Master Recipe)
1½ cups flour ¼ teaspoon salt
¼ cup Crisco 4 to 6 tablespoons water
Sift flour and salt together. Work in Crisco (the pure, digestible shortening). Add cold water, one tablespoon at a time, using just enough to hold mixture together.
Roll pastry ¼ inch thick on lightly floured board. Cover inverted pie-plate with pastry. Trim dough so that there will be enough to fold under to make a firm double edge. Prick bottom and sides with fork to prevent bubbles and distortion while shell is baking in hot oven (450°F.) for 15 minutes.
CRISCO digests quickly.

Digestible Crisco Pastry (see master recipe)
Heat milk and ½ cup water in double boiler with nutmeg. Beat egg yolks with sugar and salt until light. Pour the hot milk over the egg mixture; return to double boiler and cook until the consistency of thick cream. Remove from heat; add the gelatin which has been soaking 5 minutes in cold water. Add vanilla. Cool. When cool and ready to set, beat with Dover egg beater and fold in the stiffly-beaten egg whites. Pour this delicate fluffy mixture into an equally delicate baked Crisco pie-shell. Set in refrigerator. When thoroughly cold cover with the sweetened whipped cream and sprinkle top with the grated chocolate.

CRISCO digests quickly
A surprise in its deliciousness. A surprise, too, in its wholesome digestibility when you make the pastry with digestible Crisco.
1 cup evaporated milk ¼ teaspoon vanilla
½ cup water 3 egg whites, beaten stiff
¼ teaspoon nutmeg 1 cup sweetened whipped cream
3 egg yolks ¼ cup grated unsweetened chocolate or
¼ cup granulated sugar 2 tablespoons ground chocolate
1 teaspoon salt
3 tablespoons cold water

NOT MEANT FOR JOHN'S EARS
Where's John?
Oh, he's dosing himself up with soda as usual—he's always fussing over his tummy.

WIFE DECIDES TO TRY CRISCO
Even if it is a joke to the fellows, indigestion isn't funny to me.
John, I'm going to try cooking with Crisco—Mabel tells me that it makes even pie digestible.

HAPPY DAYS FOR JOHN NOW
You haven't had any trouble with gas, John, since I've followed that recipe the cooking school lecturer advised. I guess it's true that Crisco digests quickly!
Another piece of that Chocolate Sundae pie, Jean.

Water, Sewer Plans Outlined For Park Area

Memorial Park Work To Be Undertaken By Sera Labor

Plans to provide Memorial Park, San Mateo county's 320-acre recreational center near Pescadero, with a $20,000 modern, adequate sewage and water system at little or no cost to the county are being developed today by County Engineer James S. James and Deputy Engineer L. C. Macabee.

The plans were revealed at a meeting Tuesday of the San Mateo County Recreation Committee. Labor from SERA ranks will be used in constructing the system. The bathhouse and two cabins being built at the park are now completed, it was reported, and the commissioners made plans to motor to the park tomorrow morning to view the new additions to the recreational equipment.

It was decided by the commissioners that before county organizations would be allowed to use the park in the future for picnics and gatherings, they would be required to secure a permit. This can be obtained, at no charge, at the county engineer's office here. At the meeting a communication was read from W. E. Hoag of the Bowle Estate Company offering to sell Coyote Point, the 66-acre patch of eucalyptus trees on the bay near San Mateo, to the county for $105,000, to use as a park. The offer was rejected.

Plans to Accept $10 For $113 Judgment

A court order approving the settlement of a $113.10 judgment for $10 was sought by Thomas Dempsey on behalf of his 3-year-old daughter, Maureen, in an action filed today in superior court here. The original judgment was obtained after an automobile accident in which the child incurred slight injuries, according to the petition.

LARRY FREER ESSAY WINNER IN BETTER HOMES CONTEST

Here is the first prize winner in the better housing essay contest: The National Housing Act was designed to meet certain critical needs. First, it will further money lending—a supremely important object of the new deal program. It will create many thousands of jobs, particularly work for those so sorely hit by the depression—the skilled labor in the building trades. Finally, it will reconduct, repair and improve innumerable homes. This will add to their money value as well as the physical comfort of their inhabitants. Of equal importance is the higher morale, the increased optimism, that is bound to result.

Once upon a time there was a small community which was suffering greatly from famine. Year after year the discouraging conditions prevailed, and the inhabitants became poorer and poorer. People were suffering from lack of food and other wants. The outlook for this community was very black. Finally a conscientious and wise ruler was chosen who had a wonderful plan to end all their distresses. He asked the people to come to the community center and give an account of their wealth. Then he called the bankers in conference. "Now," said the mayor, "We are worth just as much as the total sum of the wealth of our citizens. Therefore we will use this credit to improve the general condition of our community, and you will lend the people the money to do it."

And so the farmers came to the bankers, borrowed money, and repaired their barns so their crops might be stored and their cattle protected. The manufacturers improved their factories, bought new machinery and hired more workmen. The inn keepers fixed up their roofs, painted their rooms, and built new stables. The grocers enlarged their bins, and the landlords painted their houses. The community soon took on a much brighter aspect. The farmers bought new lumber, and the carpenters worked on the homes and repaired the shops. The factories made plows, wagons and tools. The inn keepers bought paint and hired workmen. The markets were busy with buying and selling. The money was circulating freely for the benefit of all, and there were no longer the wants of past times.

Today every town in the whole country can profit by the example of the wise mayor. We of Redwood City can improve our homes, our offices, our stores. We can add to our conveniences. We can put our men to work and start that magic circulation of money that insures security and prosperity to every one in its path. This money is now available and can be hired from our banks at an extremely low rental under the liberal provisions of the National Housing Act.
